RECOLLECTIONS OF THOMAS JEFFERSON. Prof. Tutwiler, formerly of the University of Alabama, is writing for the Mobile Sunday Times, under the head of "Jeffersonian," a series of articles in which are given many recollections of the great Virginia statesman.-The following is the first of the series:

Jefferson was in the habit of making frequent visits to the University, about four miles from Monticello, and he generally came on horse-back, unattended. He was then eighty-two years of age. I well remember the first time I ever saw him. I was in the Proctor's office, when a tail, venerable gentleman, plainly dressed, entered the room, in a quiet, unobtrusive manner, and took a seat in one corner. Mr. Brockenbrough, the Proctor, was busy at the time and did not observe his entrance. I thought that it was a plain country farmer, who had called to see the Proctor on business; but a fellow student who was with me, and who had seen Mr. Jefferson before, took occasion in a private way to let me know who it was, and I then observed him more closely. I thought that I never had observed a countenance that exhibited more of the kindliest teelings of the heart. Afterwards, I saw him frequently riding along the Eastern Range, as it is called, on which I had a room, sometimes on horseback, and once or twice in a landau, accompanied by his grand daughters. It was and it excited my boyish curiosity. It was, I believe, brought by him from France.

Mr. Jefferson was in the habit of inviting some of the students, generally four or five, to dine with him at Monticello on Sundays. This day was selected because it would not interfere with their attendance on the lectures in the school of the university. The names were taken in regular order from the Proctor's book, and the invitations were given through one of his grandsons, Ben or Lewis, who were then students in the university. George W., our Con-lederate Secretary of War, was at that time only thirteen years of age, and was at school in Massachusetts. I had a dear friend and roommate, now no more, a brother of the late Dr. Gessner Harrison. He was one of the most pious young men I ever knew. When he was invited to the Sunday dinner he did not go, nor did he send any excuse, hoping that his absence would not be noted. But it was a rule with Mr. Jefferson that whenever a student did not attend, to renew the invitation for the following Sunday, and it was done in this case. Finding that his invitation was still declined, he learned, through his grandson, the cause, and sent a special invitation to this young man and some others on a week day. The invitation was accepted.

Some time after Mr. J.'s death, young H. and myself, with several other students, made a visit to Monticello. After going through the house, and just as we were leaving it, Burwell, Mr. J.'s tavorite servant, who acted as eicerone on these occasions detained me a moment, and asked me if that was not young H. who had declined Mr. J.'s invitation to dine with him on Sunday. On my answering him in the affirmative, he said, "Mr. Jefferson thought a great deal of that young man."

I mention this little incident to show the tender regard Mr. Jefferson had for the conscienscruples. Burwell had, no doubt, heard Mr. Jefferson commend the consistency of that youth.

CULTIVATION OF WHEAT. - [From the Rich mond Dispatch. |-After some experience, and much observation and study for fifty years, the writer is convinced that the preparation of land for wheat is, in the majority of cases, the very opposite of what it should be. Formerly before all these improved plows came into use, house, No. 56, south St. Asaph st. the custom was to break up the soil only a few tilth by shallow cross-plowings. Now, it is turned over to the double of sight Now, it is inches deep, and reduce the surface to a fine turned over to the depth of eight or ten inches, burying not unfrequently a vast quantity of regetable matter. Most farmers are averse to refallowing, because the coat of vegetation is thought to improve the soil. Doubtless it does; but the immediate object, and indeed the chief object, is to get a good crop. That this object can be attained under these conditions we beg leave respectfully to call in question. A porous soil is fatal to success in wheat culture; a necessary condition is compactness. Having strict reference to the manner of growth, it is believed to be perfectly philosophical to say that the roots of the wheat plant should have a solid bed to rest on, and a rich, friwith a light two horse plow as early as burying the vegetable covering so deep but what the atmosphere speedily acted upon it and decomposed it. At seed-time the ground was farther prepared by the old-fashioned combined by the old-fashioned combined by the old-fashioned combined combined by the old-fashioned combined com as farther prepared by the old-fashioned coulter-not reversing the soil, but simply stir ing it up. Here was a bed prepared for the wheat, having all the benefit of the clover tallow and of the fertilizing gasses derived from sother farmer, equally successful until he in-troduced the three-horse plow on his farm; LADIES' AND GENTLEMEN'S induced the three-horse plow on his farm after which, like Samson shorm of his locks, he was as other men.

No man who has not tried it can estimate the amount of benefit which a loose surface defrom the atmosphere. After exposure 113, King street, near the corner of Pitt. or a month or two, the crust being occasionalbroken, the effect is almost equal to an apblication of guano; and it is certainly the cheapest mode of tertilizing. Immediately cured and full vigor restored.

This distressing affection, which renders him miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of impropriety -Young persons are too apt to commit ex-cesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of the ure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind ariso. The System becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions Weakened. Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indi-gestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Consumption, Decay and Death.

DR. JOHNSON, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in als of London, Paris, Philadelphia, and elsewhere, has effected some of the most astonishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asleep, great nervousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, bashfulness, with frequent blushing, altended sometimes with derangement of wind were cured immediately.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE. Dr. J. addresses all those who have injure i Having bought the stock of Messrs. What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be snatched from all prespects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contem-reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial hap-Indeed, without these the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view, the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection that the happiness of another becomes blighted with your own.

DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to those, we from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, nocturnal pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, blotches on the head, face and pones and arms, blotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall in, and the victim of this awful disease becomes a horrid object of commisseration, till death puts a period to his dreadful sufferings, by sending him to "that Undiscovered Country from wherea no travaller returns." Country from whence no traveller returns. It is a MELANCHOLY FACT that thou sands fall victims to this terrible disease, owing to the unskilfulness of ignorant pretenders, who,

by the use of that DEADLY POISON, M.F.K-CURY, ruin the constitution and make the residuo of life miserable.
